

ASI Membership Types

Tamika C - 2018-11-27 - About ASI

ASI has four types of Membership: Distributor, Supplier, Decorator and Multi-Line Representative available.

Distributor Membership

Distributors buy promotional products from suppliers and sell to end-buyers. The Distributor Membership is available in the United States and Canada.

With ASI Distributor Membership you will receive many benefits, including:

- Opportunities to purchase ASI award-winning research and marketing packages, catalogs and websites
- Free ASI magazine subscriptions
- Free access to the ASI Show family of events
- New product information from Suppliers
- Free education and resources
- Excluding subscription opportunities
- Savings on business services

Can a franchise become a distributor member?

Yes! A Distributor Franchise is a company whom has multiple satellite offices, where each individual is a member of the larger organization. Distributor franchises are members who buy promotional products from suppliers and sell to end-buyers but also pay dues to their main company. The Distributor Franchise Membership is available in the United States and Canada.

Distributor Franchise Members will receive the same benefits as Distributor Members.

Supplier Membership

Suppliers manufacture or import promotional products. ASI Supplier membership provides many benefits, including:

- Product exposure to 130,000+ distributor sales force
