

Coded Product Numbers in ESP Web

Tamika C - 2018-12-19 - Searching

Coded product numbers are distinct call numbers for products which are individualized for your company. These numbers are different from the supplier's product number.

For example, a presentation containing the supplier's product number will be searchable on the internet and through your competitors. Coded product numbers are special codes for your company only.

A benefit to using coded product numbers is that the numbers only correspond to products in your ESP and the ESP of all users in your company. This means that every user under your ASI number will have the same coded product number for an item.

Coded product numbers are located in the Quick view and Product Detail view.

You can also search for coded product numbers by typing "CPN" and then the coded product number in the Product Search bar and clicking on Go. When entering the "CPN" before the numbers, please note that is not case sensitive.
